What to do about it

The time has come for the average citizen to make this his own fight, to recognize that his own future security depends on it. His first task, therefore, is to get informed about it.

Religion thrives.

A chorus of dissonant political voices is heard. Minorities suffocate paroxysms of societal and environmental collapse.

gendered fear.

Somebody Wins, Somebody Loses

The citizen, whether he wields his power as a worker or a businessman or a consumer, can fight capitalism. Any serious thinking leads to a few simple conclusions on what needs to be done.

THE BURNING MUST Start NOW!

WHEN "OLD MAN MOUNTAIN" CAME TUMBLING DOWN

passionately nationalistic POLICEMAN, knocked unconscious by rock which a demonstrator threw
"Who's working for who???"

OLD VIEW OF CAPITALISM, showing it as an unrestrained brute for our condition. Government bears overall responsibility for creating the milieu of policy, priority and regulation within which industry operates. If industry has never been housebroken, it is because Government has failed, the more so because today's crisis was foreseeable long ago. Government has too often not governed at all.

"Across America, . . . there is a disgust . . . a demand for action."
